If a majority of the farmers, or planters were to meet together and endorse the proposition, it would nevertheless prove to be a failure at the very moment it was most needed. The proposition to destroy a portion of any such crops would result in like manner-would prove to be a complete failure. More than a hundred years ago the plan of burning a portion of the tobacco crop was tried in Virginia, but proved to be no better than an abor-The proposition of some of the Alliances of to-day to withhold the wheat crop from market in order to secure higher prices for the wheat thus withheld seems to have come to an un-timely end already. Actions speak louder than words, and what the action of the wheat-growers has been is shown in the fact that the value of wheat exported $22,774,975 as against only $4,949,479 in August, 1890. Messrs. HAMBLETON & Co., of Baltimore, state in their last circular that ever since the season opened the shipments of grain from our seaboard have en nearly equal to the receipts, and that large quantities are still going forward. We repeat that the proposition to with-

We simply say that it is not practicable to control the wheat market. nor the cotton market, nor the tobacco sons recommend to the consideration of the Alliances and the Alliance men-the farmers, planters, and workingmen generally. All of us must take the world as we find it. None of us know what might withhold wheat from the markets of Europe. Possibly so much money might thus be locked up in that product as to cause serious difficulties in the monetary world. It might be that a panic would result.

sideration is the question whether Indian corn, or maize, as the Europeans call it, is breadstuff, in consequence of the scarcity of wheat. It may surprise some persons to learn that the quantity of corn ex-perted in August, 1899, was more than twice as large as the quantity exported in

The Tennessee Convict System. The Tennessee Legislature tacitly ac knowledge that the convict-labor problem in that State is too complex for their to solve it, but have adjourned without doing so, and the whole responsibility is again thrown upon the Governor, who, however, seems nothing loth to assume it.

If there is any renewal of demonstrations against the convicts employed at the coalmines near Briceville it is given out that preserve the peace and save the contrac-tors' property from destruction by lawless will entail upon the State great cost, and of course the contractors will be unable to if the free miners resume their hostile at titude the State and the contractors will both be losers, and what is of greater mo-

To an outsider it really appears that the gislature would have been wiser to have compromised with the contractors and can. ceeded to find some other way in which the prisoners might be employed. But the subject is full of difficulties. Perhaps they resented the threats of the free miners and determined not to be coerced by them capacity of the Governor than in their own to work the State out of her dilemma. At

Lucky is the State that can make its nitentiary convicts self-supporting without bringing them into competition with its honest working classes.

Safety in Public Schools. In less than a week the public schools of this city will be filled with children. Everything that is possible to us should be done to secure their safety and comfort. The board has complied with the law remay prove to be of great service. Now what parents and guardians would like to as are likely to occur at any time in a crowded room. from them.
One of the wisest measures of safety and one of the cheapest that can be adopted is to have all the doors of school-houses made to open outwardly. Then in case of a rush of the children to the doors these doors will yield to their pressure and release instead of imprisoning them.

This is a well-known rule of safety, but it is not generally observed here.

At the High-School building, for intance, the ponderous doors on Marshall street open inwardly. Should a rush occur WEDNESDAY. Separate Cars.

It appears from the speeches made to the Powhatan Club on Monday night that all the candidates for the House of Delegates are in favor of separate cars for the negroes on the several street-car lines of this city. We some time ago warned the street-car companies that they must have more cars or separate cars, seeing that the people of this city could not patiently endure the surly, insolent, aggressive manners which characterize the conduct of many of the negroes, particularly in getting on and off the cars. We say the conduct of many, not of all of the negroes. We are glad to be able to testify of our own knowledge that some of them seem to endeavor to be as considerate as possible of the feelings (prewhite people. On Sundays the aggressive negroes are perticularly numerous and particularly offensive. "Jim Crow" cars are allowable. Why not have them in Richmond? We concede that there are many difficulties in the way, more than anybody would suppose who has not tried to work out the problem of having cars not intended for the use of whites as well as cars not intended for the use of blacks.

Commotion in Corn-An unsuccessful attempt to corner corn proved a costly experiment and no joke at all to a good many speculators in New York, Chicago, and St. Louis yesterday. PRANK PAW DEAD.

Death has spread his cruel wings over our city again and taken from us a bright young man. Last might Frank Faw died at the residence of his brother, J. A. Faw. He came here some weeks ago for the purpose of attending King College, but was taken ill soon after and never rallied. He died last night of typhoid-fever. He was buried thus afternoon at Bluff City. Frank's parents live in California, having gone there three or four years ago. Rev. George P. Faw, his father, is a Baptist preacher, and is well known through fast Tennessee and Southwest Virginia.

Death of Mr. James Bowles.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

COVINGTON, VA., September 22.—The funeral of Mr. James Bowles, who died here Monday morning after a brief illness from heart-failure, took place to-day and was largely attended. Mr. Bowles was a native of this county, and was a lawyer. He was Commonwealth's attorney in 1883. He married a Miss Glendy, the daughter of Mr. Robert J. Glendy, the noted cattledealer. His wife and enild died some two years ago. He was about forty years of age, and was well and favorably known throughout this section of Virginia.

bought a new press and enlarged its sheet, and that the editors, Messrs, S. A. Asur and T. R. Jernican, are putting forth vigorous efforts to make it more and more worthy of the people whom it serves.

The News was started in 1871 and the Observer in 1876, and in 1880 the two papers were consolidated, Messrs, Asur and Garling having formed a partnership to publish it. This arrangement continued until February, 1884, when Major Gatling sold out and The News and Observer Company was formed, which continued the publication of the first and second preferred stock.

Chesapeake and Ohio stock.

Mr. C. P. Huntington, says the New York Times, has sold a block of 25,600 shares of Ohio railway to a party of English capitalists. The purchase was conducted through Derxel, Morgan & Co., and the price paid is believed to have been a little under $27 as share. Although the persons most closely connected with this transaction are very reticent, it is ascertained that the purchasers are in no way associated with the Vanderbills. They say that they bought the stock for investment. Mr. Huntington still remains the largest helder of the first and second preferred stock.

WHAT RESULTED FROM THE VISIT OF A SORA-HUNTING PARTY.

An Interesting Case Which May Ultimately Reach the Court of Appeals-A Fox-Chase in Petersburg.

(Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.) Perenseuro, Va., September 22.-An interesting case, which may ultimately involve the title to valuable hunting pro perty in Prince George county, was this morning by agreement of counsel on both sides certified to the regular court of that quiring it to erect fire-escapes, and this county. Some days since several young sportsmen of this city went down to the marshes of Mr. F. B. Gatling, a few miles marshes of Mr. E. B. Gathing, a tew miss from Petersburg, to shoot sora. Mr. Gatling, alleging a trespass, promptly had the entire party summoned before a magistrate of the county. The case was set for hearing this morning at City Point, and Justice Taylor was the presiding magistrate. Captain Francis R. Lazater appeared for the defendants, while Mr. Gatling was represented by Alexander Hamilton, Esq. Trial was waived by mutual consent of counsel for all parties concerned and the case duly certified to Judge Rives's court. The defendants claim that no trespass was committed, because, as they allege. Mr. Gathing has no clear title to the marshes upon which they were shooting. In order to support their contention they have engaged the services of Captain Lassiter, and it is understood that among their witnesses will be Colonel W. P. Craighill, 'Umted States Engineer, who some years ago made a survey of the property in question while engaged in Government work on the lower Appomatiox. The defendants have raised a substantial fund, and in case of an adverse verdict intend to carry the matter to the Court of Appeals. Mr. Gatling, of course, will make a very strong fight, not only upon owners' rights, but those of tenants. see is provision made against such panies from Petersburg, to shoot sora. Mr. Gat-

COURT PROCEEDINGS. In the Hustings Court to-day the case of E. W. Epes, of Notioway county, charged with passing a forged check upon the E-gentrun Clothing Company, of this city was called for trial. The Commonwealth asked a continuance until Friday, owing to the absence of several important witnesses. Epes was therefore remanded to jail. He is highly connected in Southside Virginia and his case excites general interest.

Judge Bernard also heard argument to Judge Bernard also heard argument to-day on a motion to set aside the verdict in the case of the young negro Harris, who has been sentenced to a term in the pen-tentiary for indecent assault upon a wo-man of his own race. The Judge took the matter under advisement and will render his decision in a few days.

Just before daybreak this morning the residents of Liberty streets were aroused from their sumbers by the loud baying and yelping of a pack of hounds which were in tuil chase of a fox. In the stillness of the early morning the "music," as lovers of the hunt term it, might have been heard for a mile in every direction. There were probably twenty dogs in the chase, and they seemed to be bent upon business as they passed through the city from east to west in their hot pursuit of Mr. Reynard. They appeared to be hunting upon their own "hook," for no ruders followed them during the course of the morning, and the last that was heard of them was a faint but meilow baying near the Dinwiddle line. Chester Ellington's Numerous Attempts to Escape-His Colored Accomplice.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

Farmyiller, Va., September 22.—Several weeks ago Chester Ellington, a young white man, was put in jul for drunkenness and the night following he made his escape through the wail from the second story of the prison. Last night be was recaptured by Deputy. Sheriff Harvey and locked in the ceil cage. This morning when the julier opened the jul door Ellington was missing and an axe and a huge bar of iron were found in his cell. A fittle while afterwards the prisoner was found secreted up-stairs, having not had time to while afterwards the prisoner was found secreted up-stairs, having not had time to make his exit through the outer wall. He was put then in the cell with Charley Redd, now under sentence to the penitentury for the murder of his wife, and in which was kept Clarke, Haley, and Fox, the safe-blowers.

BOUND TO GET OUT. This afternoon Ellington was found vigo This afternoon Ellington was found vigorously at work with a new monkey-wrench and file making his way through the cage, and but for the timely discovery would have freed himself and the man Redd also. How he procured the instruments with which to work was at once looked into, and to-night Eddie Simpson, a colored box, claiming his home to be in Charlotte county, was arrested and confessed having bought, with money that Ellington gave him, the wrench and file, but says that he did not know there was any harm in doing so. Simpson is now in jail with Ellington.
